Mr. Cavitt Receives Letter For Better Cotton Seed

Brazos county like all other cotton counties in Texas is deeply interested in the better cotton seed movement and with all the questions surrounding the production of cotton, this is one of the most important at this time. The following letter has been received by Mr. Cavitt:

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 19th, 1922. MR. SAM CAVITT, Bryan, Texas. Dear Sir:—We feel that you will be interested to know that this organization is inaugurating and will endeavor to carry out for the next few months, a campaign for the planting of better seed for the coming cotton crop. We regard this movement as being one of prime importance, and one worthy of the support of all who are interested in the production of better cotton in Texas. We have addressed letters to the Texas Bankers Association; Texas Cotton Association; Mr. T. O. Walton, director of Extension Service at A. and M. College; Texas Wholesale Merchants Association; Texas Hardware & Implement Dealers Association; Texas Retail Merchants Association; Texas Chamber of Commerce, and other similar organizations in the state, outlining our program and requesting that they circularize their membership, urging upon them the importance of community cooperation in encouraging and impressing upon their local farmers the advantages that will follow the planting of approved varieties of pure seed best suited for each locality. We have also advised our local County Farm Bureau organizations, requesting that they co-operate with the members of the various associations named above, and we are very hopeful that the united effort of all concerned will bring about some measure of success. In this connection, if it is entirely consistent, we shall greatly appreciate advice from you concerning, first, the approximate amount of seed you have on hand, available for distribution; second, the present location of same, that is, whether it is all stored in your home warehouses, or partly distributed at various shipping centers over the planting section; third, the price you desire, both in carload and less than carload lots, for the seed you have on hand. It is our purpose to advise our local County Farm Bureau organizations, as well as the county agents of the A. and M. College, relative to the amount of pure seed in the state, available for distribution, and the price at which the same may be obtained, in order that they may have this information before them, and be in better position to assist local communities in securing an adequate supply of good seed at reasonable prices. It is of course needless to say that we shall treat this information as confidential with the exception of passing it along to the county agents, and local Farm Bureau Organizations. We would also appreciate any suggestions you may care to offer, that you think will help in making the campaign a success. Probably you have in mind some plan by which your salesmen can stimulate sales, through the co-operation of the several agencies we have named, and we shall be very glad to have you give us the benefit of your experience along these lines. Assuring you of our earnest desire to make this worthy undertaking a success, and thanking you for your cordial support in the matter, we are, Very truly yours, D. L. RAY, Manager Better Cotton Seed Campaign.

TEXAS PECANS WILL TAKE THE PLACE OF ROUND BEEF STEAKS

(By Associated Press)
Austin, Texas, Jan. 25.—When round steaks become scarce and costly, will Texas, which has furnished much of the nation's meat supply, furnish a substitute in pecans? Such a question can be answered only by future generations, but is not improbable, according to J. H. Burkett, pecan specialist of the state department of agriculture and secretary of the Texas Pecan Growers' Exchange. Pecans have been found to contain the proteins and vitamins that exist in meat, Mr. Burkett said. One pound of nuts has the food value of one and one-half pounds of round steak and one-half pound of butter. Pecans, therefore, are a valuable substitute for these foods. Pecan growing will outstrip the other agricultural products of Texas when properly developed, Mr. Burkett predicted. Probably not more than 25 per cent of the people of the United States are acquainted with the pecan in the shell, he said. Texas produces 75 per cent of the entire commercial crop of the world. Mexico is Texas' greatest competitor. The Mexican pecan crop appears on the northern market two or three weeks ahead of the Texas crop, according to Mr. Burkett, and although the product is not of very good quality, it commands a price of about 13 cents a pound. The market price of Texas pecans, in carlots, ranges from 13 cents to 17 cents a pound, depending upon the grade of the product, although 25 cents and 30 cents a pound are frequently paid for fancy and choice pecans. While the growing has been regarded heretofore as a "pick-up" or "side" industry, Mr. Burkett said, it has been worth from one to three million dollars to Texas. Rapid strides in the growth of the industry, placing it on a basis of other crops, are contemplated by the state department of agriculture. The department of agriculture has assisted in building, grafting and propagating pecans and has fostered development of the industry through teaching the growers how to care for the trees, both native and planted. There are approximately 5,000,000 pecan trees of bearing age in Texas, Mr. Burkett estimated, and most of these are native, although some planted trees are just beginning to bear. Growers in Texas have planted about 200,000 pecan trees, in nursery groves, according to Mr. Burkett's figures.

Development of the pecan industry, Mr. Burkett said, has been handicapped by a lack of knowledge of the crop's requirements. Growers know that the trees are moisture loving, he said, but they have not been able to determine a balanced ration for the trees. It is along this line that information is being sought. Meanwhile, much is being done for the industry in the way of budding and grafting. Mr. Burkett and his assistant, O. L. Wallace go among the growers each year and explain the processes. In the winter they show the growers how to set out the trees. E. E. Riessen, of San Saba, Texas, is "father" of the budding process, Mr. Burkett said. Mr. Riessen, an English horticulturist, has been active in experimenting with pecan growing. There are a number of large pecan groves in Texas, according to Mr. Burkett. One of these is the grove of E. C. Butterfield, near Winona Smith county, who has 1,000 acres, containing 32,000 pecan trees. Mr. Butterfield said Mr. Burkett grew pecans profitably while his pecan trees were starting. Possibilities for profit from pecan growing are large, Mr. Burkett said. A profit of ten per cent can be realized on an investment of $1,000 an acre in 20 years and on an investment of $5,000 an acre in 40 years, when the trees become full bearing, he said. Offers of $5,000 an acre or pecan groves have been refused in some east southern states, according to reports received here. Other large pecan growing states are Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Louisiana. Headquarters of the National Pecan Growers' Exchange are in Georgia.

REWARD OF $1,500 FOR A FUGITIVE ARRESTED AT HEARNE

Hearne, Tex., Jan. 25.—A man said to be wanted by officers in California, Oregon and Texas for various allegations, and for whom a reward of $1,500 is offered, was arrested here yesterday by G. E. Martin and F. R. Forrester, special officers of the Southern Pacific lines. The man was said to be heavily armed and was taken to Luling to answer one of the allegations there.

Officers say the man is the one who made a sensational escape from Austin yesterday when, with a companion, he was taken toward police headquarters. Jumping on the running board of a car being driven by Harry Barber, young son of Will G. Barber, San Marcos attorney and capitalist, with a pointed gun he forced the youth to drive him to Luling, where he boarded a train. Mr. Barber, member of the board of legal examiners, was in Austin yesterday and his son was en route to the state capital to get his father.

When the two men were arrested at Austin yesterday they were in an auto and police say the auto contained a copper still, a gasoline stove, six weeks' supply of canned goods, numerous blankets and several suitcases filled with shirts and suits of clothing and women's underwear. The man's companion is under arrest at Austin.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION MEETING WAS HELD

An important meeting of the Brazos County Poultry Association was held at the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, January 23, with President J. F. Oates, Secretary W. O. Sanders, and Vice President Will Jones and many members present. Many matters of interest to the poultry industry came up for consideration. Mr. J. H. Conway, treasurer, made a report which showed the financial condition of the association to be in good shape. The membership committee made a report, showing new members coming in all along the line indicating the association should have a membership of several hundred within a very short time.

A movable school to visit several leading communities of the county with pens of the several breeds of poultry, showing type, egg record, etc. was planned for Monday and Tuesday, February 13 and 14. Mr. F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman Extension Service, will accompany the "movable school" to lecture on poultry with special reference to characteristics of the several breeds, care and treatment of baby chicks, laying hens, kinds of feed necessary for greatest egg production, culling, demonstrations, etc. All interested in the most profitable poultry will miss a treat if they fail to hear Mr. Kazmeier when he visits the several communities on this special mission in the interest of better poultry on every Brazos county farm. All poultry raisers present gladly agreed and endorsed the idea of furnishing club members with hatching eggs at reduced prices. Prof. E. R. Alexander and County Agent C. L. Beason were asked to map out itinerary for "movable school", and these gentlemen will make report within the next few days. If you are interested in having this school come to your community call up the committee and ask them to place your community on the route. It was decided that the poultry association send representatives to the Tabors Short Course, February 3-4.

The next county poultry show will be held a week or ten days after the closing of the Houston Fair, and it is expected that one of the biggest shows ever pulled off in Texas will be seen right here in Brazos County. Now is the time to get ready with your chickens, turkeys, etc. Arrangements will be made to take care of all who want to send an exhibit.

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE CALLED BY GOVERNOR NEFF

Heads of Schools, Organizations and Citizens Generally Called To Meet In Austin On February 11 to Consider Educational Problems of Texas Now Very Serious.

(Special to the Bryan Eagle)

Austin, Texas, Jan. 25.—Governor Neff today called "think-out-loud conference" to meet in his office on the morning of February 11 to consider the education problems of Texas. To it he has invited the heads and governing boards of the higher institutions of learning, besides leaders in civic organizations. In his letter calling the conference the governor says: "The entire educational system of Texas, from the most obscure rural school to the university, has been at all times, and is now, a matter of deepest concern to all our people. Grateful as we are to the builders who have gone before, there is yet much constructive work to be done in Texas perfecting our educational system. At places it is duplicated, disjointed and inefficient. The systematizing and developing of our educational life as a whole is worthy the thoughtful co-operation of our educational leaders and of our men and women who freely give of their time and energy to all movements designed to improve conditions in church and state."

"THINK-OUT-LOUD CONFERENCE" SAYS GOV. NEFF.

Hoping to be of some service along this line, I have planned to have a 'think-out-loud conference' with those who are officially and semi-officially charged with the responsibility of our educational life in order that we may freely, unselfishly and patriotically exchange ideas with a view of broadening the foundation and lifting higher the walls of our educational structure in this state. With this thought in mind I am hereby calling a conference to meet at my office in Austin at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of Saturday, Feb. 11, 1922." The governor has invited to attend the conference the board of regents of the University of Texas, board of directors of A. and M. College, board of regents of the College of Industrial Arts, Normal School Board of regents, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, presidents of higher institutions of learning and the normal schools legislative committee on survey of higher education, president and retiring president of the State Teachers' Association and the presidents of the Texas Congress of Mothers, Federation of Women's Clubs and the Texas League of Women Voters.

TWO RIVERS OIL COMPANY BECOMING ACTIVE IN LEASES

At a meeting of the directors and stockholders of the Two Rivers Oil Company held Tuesday afternoon the directors were voted the power to sell buy and trade leases for the company. J. C. Miller, well known oil operator of Texas, the mid continent and Mexican oil fields and associates have contracted to conduct a big financial campaign for this company. Stock will not only be sold throughout the United States but following the action of the stockholders and directors of this company leases will be sold and exchanged. The company holds 45,000 acres in oil and mineral leases and with a greater part of these on the market an active play in lease deals in Brazos county is now seen. Sale of leases will put more funds in the treasury while the exchange of some leases for leases in other fields around drilling wells will enhance the holding of the local company greatly, it was pointed out.

Officers of the company reported yesterday that drilling on the deep test well on the Wixson farm will be resumed shortly. This well now is 1850 feet and the log has checked virtually foot by foot with the logs of the producers in the Mexia field.

JUDGE DAVIS SPOKE ON LAW ENFORCEMENT

Franklin, Texas, Jan. 25.—Pursuant to the call of Governor Neff, Judge W. C. Davis of Bryan of the eighty-fifth judicial district, delivered an address to a crowded courtroom here on the subject of enforcement of the law. He dwelt upon the responsibilities of citizenship and the duty of citizens to do jury service. He said that no man had a right to excuse himself from jury service, even though he had a legal excuse, and then criticize the courts or officers for nonenforcement of the law. He made special reference to the prohibition laws and said that it devolved upon every good citizen, whether he approved of the law or not, to aid in its enforcement to the letter, that the best way in the world to test out the popularity of a law was to enforce it.

Miss Ara Haswell was hostess to the Junior Bridge Club this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mayor and Mrs. Tyler Haswell on West 24th street.

The Houston Post says: "If the Magic Valley cabbage crop were even to form a merger with corned beef, the whole palpitating earth would be crushed under a weight of abdominal joy." If the city profiteers do not divide the profits with the cabbage raiser after awhile there will be no cabbage, George. The Magic Valley farmers are paid $3 to $6 a ton for their cabbage and in three days the same cabbage sells for $14 to $150 per ton in Houston. This is a sorry business and somebody is almost criminal. Divide the profits with the farmer, George, or you will "kill the goose that laid the golden egg."

The Eagle is heartily in accord with Governor Neff in his desire to maintain the Texas penitentiary system without an extra session of the legislature. Gov. Neff proposes to borrow the money and make it back on the farms. If the Texas prison farms are not self-sustaining when there is no interest or taxes to be paid it is time they were being put on this business basis and Gov. Neff and Commissioner Herring are attempting to put the system on this basis. The past management of the system has wrecked it and it is high time there was business reform and on this line the Eagle thinks Gov. Neff and Commissioner Herring will succeed.

AGRICULTURAL CAMOUFLAGE
President Harding has directed the secretary of agriculture to call a conference to "consider the agricultural problems of the American people." There is nothing the matter with agriculture. The calamity comes when it takes nineteen hides to pay for one pair of shoes or when the farmer receives $6.00 for a ton of cabbage which sells in three days for $150. The Eagle deeply regrets that our leaders and financiers are so blind that they cannot see that the farmer ought to receive a part of the profits. Produce to the ultimate consumer and all production are too high for the prices paid for raw material. Divide the profits. When this is done the American farmer will not complain. But at present raw products are too low for the high prices of finished products. This is a plain proposition and there is too much produce laid up at the terminals and not enough efficiency and work being done by the haulers and transportation of the farm products. There is only one way to remedy the present evils and that is for everybody to go to work on an efficiency basis. There is less efficiency today in the United States than ever before known. These facts are uncontrovertible and should be met with honesty and not so much camouflage.

LAST DAY OF HUNTING SEASON JANUARY 31

January 31 is the last day on which wild ducks and geese, coots, gallinules, and Wilson snipe or jacksnipe may be hunted anywhere in the United States under the Federal law which prescribes seasons on migratory game birds. This law, which is administered by the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, provides, however, that the carcasses of birds killed during the open season may be possessed for an additional period of 10 days following the end of the season if State or local laws do not prohibit it. The possession of carcasses of wild ducks, geese, and other migratory game birds in cold storage plants after February 10 renders the owners subject to prosecution in the Federal courts.

TABOR SHORT COURSE PROGRAM TO BE HELD ON FEBRUARY 3 AND 4

A joint meeting of all committees of the Tabor Short Course was held Wednesday afternoon at high school building to outline program and make such other preliminary arrangements as might be necessary for the greatest success of the short course. The advance man writes County Agent C. L. Beason that Mr. Mobley is coming to give the best that is in him to the Tabor community and those who attend the short course. Mr. Mobley was national chairman at Washington of Farmers' Organizations' Legislative Committee during the discussion and adoption of such laws as the Farm Loan Bank, Parcel Post, Smith-Lever Bill, etc. He is a practical farmer of many years' experience who sees things from the farmers viewpoint, a successful livestock and alfalfa grower, a leader among community builders, and a well-known lecturer on various agricultural subjects and home and rural school problems. His lectures at Tabor will be those which will be most helpful to the community and the county at large. It is believed that those who attend the short course will get an inspiration and a viewpoint which will help them to a more prosperous and happy life in the future. All women, club women, business women, professional women, farm women, and housewives, will want to hear the talks and discussions to be given by Mrs. Bertha Dahl Laws, one of the leading women exponents of better homes and better health. She graduated from Boston School of Cooking over 30 years ago and was also a student at various times at Chautauqua, New York, and the Wisconsin University. For a quarter of a century she has been engaged in one of the noblest of all callings, that of making woman's work easier.

MRS. BERTHA DAHL LAWS

For two years she assisted in the care and feeding of hundreds of orphan children at the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Home. Later studied nursing at the Lincoln Park Sanitarium, Chicago. For five years she was a teacher of home economics in the Minneapolis public schools, where she taught mission classes and mothers' classes. For seven years she was connected with the Minnesota Farmers' Institute, delivering lectures before chautauquas, clubs, and schools. She was also teacher of home economics in the Northern Normal College at Aberdeen, South Dakota, for one year. She has lectured in nearly all parts of the United States, Canada and Alaska. Eight years ago she began the work of building up a department of women's work at the Minnesota State Fair, and so fast it has grown that there is no other such department in America. Mrs. Laws is being sent to the Tabor Short Course by the Agricultural Extension Department of the International Harvester Company. It is hoped that all our women interested in making better and happier homes will hear Mrs. Laws. Let us get a vision of the great work which lies before us, and with the vision, courage and inspiration that will lead us aright in our undertakings toward a fuller life.

The Short Course will be February 3rd and 4th.

County Agent Beason Speaks Before Chamber of Commerce

In a speech before the annual meeting of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce held on Tuesday night, January 17th, County Agent C. L. Beason, of Brazos county, in making his report said: "The success of any business, or enterprise, depends, primarily upon the embryonic possibilities of the undertaking, and, secondarily, upon the brain and brawn of man to tend and nurture the embryo business into life and growth limited only by the possibilities of the enterprise. In commerce and finance, geographical location has been a potent factor in accounting for the rise of merchant princes and the growth of mighty financial institutions. So with mining, manufacturing, etc. But since the days when Ruth and Naomi gleaned in the fields of Boaz climate, soil fertility, and good husbandry have characterized the greatest possible progress of agriculture in every land. These, the inseparable trio—the trinity making sure the fullest agriculture. In our own country where the sun ever shines—or it's moonshine—and where both plants and animals never go thirsty, we enjoy a climate most favorable for a wide range of field crops and other vegetable growth conducive to the greatest welfare of man and the most economic production and the keeping of all domestic animals. We are helpless to change the climate, but we can take advantage of it. We may, however, change the fertility of soil. Yea, we have done so. Coming into the possession of a land almost as fertile as the valley of the Nile we have practiced a system of agriculture making possible statistics which haunt us year after year with ghastly facts of decreased yields per acre while an increased acreage in cultivation constantly heaps burdens upon thousands of impoverished husbandmen and makes uncertain many business enterprises.

"I am not an alarmist; I'm not a pessimist. I am a born optimist. The sugar on a doughnut is sweeter to me than the hole in it. I am not a prophet, nor the son of one. Neither am I a fool—only look like one, but I have said, I now say, and in the language of lamented Hogg, 'By gatin' I will continue to say that if we expect permanent prosperity, instead of spasms of plenty, we must give serious consideration to the matter of soil conservation in Brazos county. I am not charging that the wholesale soil robbery, evidences of which may be seen on many farmsteads, has been intentional. Far from it. From my own experience and observation I am inclined to think the matter has been due to neglect rather than to negligence. But the result is the same, like the fate of the unfortunate tourist, as expressed in the following lines:

'Here's to the memory of Adam Jay,
Who died maintaining his right of way.
He felt that he was right, as he drove along,
But he's just as dead as if he had been dead wrong.'

"I'm endeavoring to draw this picture, or call attention to this gigantic economic loss, resulting from a depleted soil, lest we undertake to build a permanent agriculture, without first giving heed to soil building in Brazos county. There are two thousand farms in Brazos county which need terracing or drainage, or both, to check erosion or make efficient soil production. One of the problems to be undertaken by the Extension Service, through the county agent, will be to conduct terracing demonstrations among all, or a part, of the fifty farmers now waiting and asking for help in this particular kind of work.

"Crop rotation projects will be put on in six different communities to show that the depleted soil may be built while bigger crops may be produced at the same time. Club work among the boys and girls—the men and women of a great tomorrow—will constitute another county agent activity, believing that the work is conducive to happier and more prosperous lives on the farm and the training for citizenship which will help usher in a better day. Organization being essential to the progress of any enterprise, organized community centers will be encouraged as being most helpful in matters pertaining to rural betterment, and at the same time furnishing wholesome channels in which, and through which, the solution of many rural problems may easily be found.

"Notwithstanding present conditions, the outlook for agriculture in Brazos county is most encouraging. On almost every hilltop may be heard the low of purebred cattle. The grunt of registered hogs keeps tune with cackle of standard bred poultry in nearly every farmyard. Gentlemen, believing, further, that the town and the country are inter-dependent, that the prosperity of the country means the progress and growth of the town, good feeling and fellowship, one for the other, will be encouraged hoping, and believing, that the work of the College, through its Extension Service in Brazos county, and the cooperation of all forces and factors will speedily hasten the day when the permanent prosperity of Brazos county farmers, encouraged by the work of this organization, will rival the phenomenal growth of a fortunate city—Bryan."

AGRICULTURE AND EDUCATION IN BRAZOS COUNTY.

Two addresses of more than passing interest were made at the recent annual meeting of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce held in Bryan. The two addresses were made on different topics but the questions discussed touched vitally the interests of Bryan and Brazos county. In fact that at this time they are the two paramount issues confronting all the people. They are the basic foundation for our prosperity today and our future growth and continued prosperity—Education and Agriculture.

Superintendent Maamson Hall, of the Bryan Public Schools, spoke on the subject, "Our Duty Toward Education," and he pointed out that in the perpetuity and expansion of our schools depended the future greatness of our civilization. Supt. Hall said the need of a Junior High School was manifest as it has been shown that many students go no further and then take up the duties of life. The school buildings and the play grounds must be equipped better and a general interest must be aroused in all school activities, Supt. Hall advocated. Hence he wanted to see the proposed $25,000 bond issue adopted by the voters of Bryan on Wednesday, January 25. Supt. Hall put the whole question squarely up to the citizenship of Bryan for their consideration and said that the need of the bond issue now was imperative for the good of the children and our educational system of the future.

Prof. Daniel Scoates of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, spoke on the subject: "The Agricultural Engineer and Brazos County." He said there never would be better homes in Brazos county until the people found agriculture and stock raising more remunerative and this would not be so until better cultural methods, better marketing and more equally distributed prices for products were established beyond any question of doubt. Prof. Scoates said that more conveniences were needed on the farms in Brazos county and better sanitary conditions around the homes to make the work more pleasant for the women and girls. In fact better stock, better poultry, better roads, and better machinery and equipment were imperative when land is high and cost of production at abnormally high prices. Prof. Scoates pointed out many things that should be done and complimented the Chamber of Commerce on its achievements. He said he really did not realize the work that twenty-five directors and active committees had been doing. "I have heard some things and have read of them in the Eagle, but they never appeared so vivid to me until tonight." He pledged his earnest support for better things on the farm homes in Brazos county in the future.

The Eagle commends these two citizens,—one interested in education and the other in agriculture for their timely words and proffered support of the Chamber of Commerce in its activities for 1922. The directors meet weekly for an hour or more and spend at least a week each year in this work. Every citizen should join them in the forward movement for 1922 for better educational facilities and agricultural development and production. These are the paramount and outstanding interests of Bryan and Brazos county and all the people and they need the most active earnest and intelligent support that can possibly be given to assure ultimate success.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE IN NEED OF FIFTY VICTROLA RECORDS

The public schools of Bryan have three Victrolas and practically no records and if the work desired by Miss Ruth Lawler, supervisor of music, be accomplished it is absolutely necessary that she have at least 50 records a tentative list of which is given below. Miss Lawler has asked the cooperation of the Parent-Teachers' Association in securing these records and through Mrs. M. B. Parker, chairman of the music committee they are making an appeal to the citizens of Bryan to help them provide these records which are necessary. Surely there are many who have one or more of these records among the list in their homes and will be glad to donate them to the schools. If you haven't one perhaps you would be glad to buy one or give the price of one. Any assistance given the Parent-Teachers' Association in this laudable cause will be greatly appreciated. If you have a record you will donate telephone Mrs. M. B. Parker or bring it to the meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association Thursday afternoon at Carnegie Library. The following are the records desired:

COLORADO-TO-GULF HIGHWAY MEETING

(Special to the Eagle)
Dalhart, Texas, January 25.—The annual meeting of the Colorado to Gulf Highway, which will be held in the city of Amarillo sometime in April will be the most largely attended convention in the history of the association, according to reports that are being received at the executive headquarters here. Delegates are expected from all towns and cities between Denver and Galveston and Brownsville. Captain Bernard S. McMahon, field director, has effected local organizations at all points in Texas and will spend the month of February in New Mexico and Colorado in the interest of the organization. The Amarillo meeting is considered of extreme importance as the necessary steps will be taken at that time to secure state and federal recognition of the highway in its entirety.

A marvelous amount of construction, especially in Texas, is now progressing on the highway, all of which insures a splendid thoroughfare of 1700 miles for tourists travel this summer. The gulf branch of the highway goes from Ft. Worth to Bryan and Galveston while the military branch leaves the main route at Waco going by the way of Austin, San Antonio to Brownsville and into Mexico.

JUDGE GRUBBS OBSTREPEROUS.

Judge V. W. Grubbs protests against reducing the size of the legislature and advances the novel argument that the larger the legislative body, the fewer the laws will be. Considering that we now have at least a hundred times more laws than we need, why not, therefore, make the legislature a much more numerous body than it is? Proceeding on that theory, we think a legislature of about the proper size would result from the enactment of a measure to make each man and woman between the ages of 21 and 55 a representative or a senator. Then all the others—those from 1 to 21 and those over 55—should be made to serve as members of the national congress.—Waco News-Tribune.

Judge Grubbs was once a citizen and a member of the legislature from Hunt county, has since he went to California lost his political equilibrium and legislative astuteness. We named the Grubbs Vocational College at Arlington for him, but if he continues to advocate a larger legislature we will try and have the name changed.

BRAZOS COUNTY BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB DEPT.

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

It will soon be corn planting time and have you selected that seed corn which is best suited to this section? Suppose we begin now to make selections for next year by planting a seed plot of the best adapted variety. Mr. Persons, in charge of Boys' Club Work, states that several hundred dollars in cash prizes will be offered for best exhibits of Surcropper, Yellow Dent, and Chisholm. These varieties are good for Brazos County, in the order named. Better seed, better cultural methods, and proper fertilization would add many thousand bushels to our annual corn crop without increasing the acreage.

One feed store in Bryan sold nearly $1,000 worth of feed in one day. If this had been produced at home, a thousand dollars could have been spent for dry goods, groceries, shoes, etc. The money is gone to Kansas, and West Texas. When will it return?

It would be a safe guess that most farmers are planning a huge crop of cotton, blindly hoping that the "other fellow" will not do likewise and help run the yield up so high, during the unsettled world conditions, that the crop will impoverish those who make it in trying to gather and market it. Provide for the cow, the hen, the livestock, the table and then raise all the cotton you can.

The bad weather this week has interfered with terracing work scheduled for the farms of Sam Corrobb, R. L. Jones, John Figaro, J. M. Conway, J. C. Cloud, H. O. Boatwright and others. People passing the farms of R. L. Jones and John Figaro, on Route No. 6, Brazos County will observe some splendid terracing being done. Keep at it gentlemen and it, together with proper rotation of crops, will bring back the former fertility of your soils.

In next week's club column of the Bryan Eagle the prize story about Mr. Clapp's lecture at Smetana will receive mention.

A poultry raiser of the Brazos County Poultry Association, realizing and appreciating the good work being done by club members of the county, will furnish hatching eggs to club members at a reduction from the regular price.

Do not forget to attend the "movable school" when it comes your way. That "3200 rooster" will be on hand. Let us get ready to "swat" the scrub, whatever it may be. Tell us if you are with us. We need your help and encouragement to put over every worthy undertaking. A great future awaits our united efforts. Failures will continue to mark the individual path or selfish trail. Put up your hammer and buy a horn.

R. W. Persons, Assistant State Agent, in charge of Boys' Club Work reports that several hundred dollars in cash prizes have already been offered for corn exhibits, judging grain sorghums, etc. Brazos county club members will be expected to take their

Told Operation Was Her Only Hope

Houston Woman Had Gotten So She Couldn't Even Retain Milk or Water.

"Everybody who knows me knows the wonderful good Tanlac has done me, and I am glad to make a public statement for the benefit of other sufferers," said Miss A. E. Dixon, "112 Meadow Street, Houston, Texas. "I had a complete nervous breakdown, followed by catarrh of the stomach. I suffered agony all the time from my neck down to my hips, and my stomach got in such bad condition that I could not retain even milk or water. I didn't average two hours sleep at night and was losing weight and strength every day. I was told an operation was my only hope, but the very thought made me more nervous than ever.

"That I am a well and strong woman today I owe to nothing but Tanlac. I had been taking it only a few days when I felt relief. I sleep good at night, all the pain has left my back and I can digest anything I eat. I have regained my lost weight and feel like a different person altogether."

Tanlac is sold in Bryan by N. A. Stewart and all leading druggists.

BAPTIST CIRCLE MEETING.

Despite the very inclement weather of Monday afternoon, a large crowd of the Baptist auxiliary members of the First Baptist church, assembled at the home of Mrs. M. P. Walker, where Circle Number 3 as hostesses entertained most delightfully from 3 to 5 p. m. Mrs. E. H. P. Bain, circle chairman was leader of the program which was given as follows: Subject, "Expanding the Foreign Horizon." Devotional, Scripture reading and prayer, led by Mrs. Jno. A. Held. Talk, "Paul the Foreign Missionary," Mrs. G. M. Brandon. Vocal Duett, Mrs. Roy Danforth and Mrs. Will S. Howell. Talk, "The Work of William Carey," Mrs. McDuff Simpson. Prayer, Mrs. Dave Jolly Talk, "Foreign Mission Opportunities Since the World War," Mrs. Albert Buchanan. Instrumental solo, Miss Lillian Howard.

At the close of the program a refreshment course of sandwiches and hot chocolate was served.

full quota in all prizes offered. The competition promises to be keen among the clubs of the county. Up to this week, Harvey was leading in membership, but now comes Edge and girls with 30 projects already and their club not yet organized. Following is the list of Edge club members to date: George Leighman, corn; Pauline Beard, poultry; Lester Moore, pig; Susie Griffin, pig; Maude Moore, poultry; Benard Hill, corn; Eldrid Henry, pig; Eugene Beard, corn, sheep and poultry; Wallace Henry, pig; Otho Richards, corn; Albert Closs, pig; Frank Stroud, corn; Lon George, corn and poultry; Myrtle Hill, poultry; Paul Moore, pig; Johnnie Payne, corn and pig; Joe Bailey Stroud, corn; Gertrude Hamilton, poultry; Norma Ruth Hill, pig; Waldon Orr, pig; Harvey Martin, pig; Brooks Thompson, pig; Velma Moore, pig; Floyd Moore, corn; and Pauline Thompson, poultry.

All club members having livestock projects should have field crops of some kind. Feed is one of the essentials to livestock success. Hundreds of livestock are depreciating in value at a mighty rate during these cold rainy days for lack of feed and shelter. We do not need feed and shelter for many days in the year, but when we do need it, it should be available.

The Breeder's Gazette, January 19, gives the following interesting paragraph concerning a champion corn club member: "Even since I can remember I have watched my father shell, grade and test seed corn, and have always wished to grow corn myself. Last year father said that I might join the boys' corn club. He sent represented father's own selection it was disease free and rag doll tested. I had a fine stand, and harvested 80 bushels. This was so encouraging that I tried again in 1921, and, as in 1920, I selected my acre in a field of well drained, black loam, clover soil. It was plowed early in the spring 9 or 10 inches deep, and harrowed and worked well. 150 pounds of acid phosphate being sown broadcast on it. My seed was from my best sample, and was tested as before, for I have learned that in growing corn it is necessary first to have good seed, to have a well prepared seed bed, with the proper amount of fertilizer, and then thoroughly to cultivate as soon as the soil is warm, and until it begins to tassle. After that I dragged an auto tire through it to help conserve the soil-moisture and keep down weeds. I used a hoe, for I was troubled with some creeping vines. The summer was hot and dry and the insects damaged it some. Our experiment plots show that 20 per cent acid phosphate is the best for our soil, and my acre came through the summer without 'firing.' We had a storm on September 17 that ruined many ears. The corn was harvested row at a time and weighed, making 101.6 bushels. I had the experience of myself growing this field containing my acre from plowing to harvesting, which I was proud to do.—Frank W. Lux, Shelby County, Ind."

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bond who have been occupying a cottage on west 30th street, have rented the home of F. Sumerlatt on west 24th street and moved into same on Monday afternoon.

A. & M. STUDENTS ARE NOW CLASSING COTTON

Mr. L. E. Dowd, of the Textile Engineering Department of A. & M. College for Cotton Classers' Section, reports some interesting developments in the employment and work of students in that department. During the holidays one of the students who was not sure he could return to college on account of financial reasons went home and worked two weeks classing cotton and cleaned up $150 which enabled him to return and take up his duties. His instruction here ranked him high in the work. Another student went home and his father had a few bales of cotton that had been classed and upon reclassification at the suggestion of this student the farmer received $56.60 more for the cotton. These two items alone fully demonstrate the need of qualified cotton classing especially when this section of Texas depends so much for its prosperity on the cotton crop. The Eagle is glad to get these facts from Mr. Dowd and feels sure there are many more instances of this kind that the people of Texas should know at this time.

DEMAND FOR CORN AND SWEET POTATOES GOOD

(Special to the Eagle).
Austin, Texas, Jan. 25.—Demand for Texas maize and corn and sweet potatoes has been good, with a noticeable increase from farmers for the first two products, according to the last bulletin of the state markets and warehouse department. Inauguration of new freight rates helped increase the demand from farmers, the bulletin said, who are beginning to get in such supplies for winter feeding as they need. "The fact that the demand for maize up to the present time has not been as brisk as in past seasons foreshadows an increasing movement for the coming winter months, though a plentiful corn crop has done much to hold the demand for maize in check," the bulletin said. "Apparently there is a good supply of both corn and maize available and stock of both of excellent quality are being offered at very low prices. Maize which a few weeks ago was being offered freely at $10 a ton has since picked up from $2 to $2.50 a ton and offerings were reasonably free from $12 to $12.50 a ton, f. o. b. loading station. Shippers of ear corn were offering to deliver good sound stock at 62 cents.

The Cotulla-Carrizo Springs section moved the bulk of the spinach last week in Texas. Something like 75 cars left that section against approximately 15 from the Austin territory. No reports of shipments were received from either the Wharton or Laredo sections and it is presumed that no appreciable quantity went forward from them. The movement from the Norfolk, Va., section for the past week, it was estimated, would come close to 100 cars. An increased acreage, coupled with mildness of the weather, has kept this section in the running much longer than anticipated earlier in the season. Austin operators were receiving from 65 to 75 cents a basket f. o. b. for their stock last week.

"Increased interest was noted in the demand for sweet potatoes and supplies of kiln dried yams were going into markets around $1.35 per bushel crate or $2.50 a hundred in carlots. Curing house stock is beginning to be the chief source of supply and plant operators are preparing to put on their supplies in anticipation of a good demand. A survey of the offering of the curing plants of the state was undertaken and just as soon as this is complete the information will be made available to all interested parties requesting it.

"Smudge pots were brought out toward the close of last week to offset any possible damage which a slight freeze might do to the citrus orchards of the Rio Grande Valley. No damage of importance was reported, although a few unprotected tomatoes, we are advised, were damaged. Cabbage, onions and lettuce were all benefitted by the light freeze which killed off the insects and worms that had begun to be bothersome and a light rain accompanying the northward proved especially beneficial to cabbage, which is the principal acreage crop in this section."

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bond who have been occupying a cottage on west 30th street, have rented the home of F. Sumerlatt on west 24th street and moved into same on Monday afternoon.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which gripped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive.
